Introducing The Perse School

The Perse School, founded in Cambridge, has over 400 years of history and ranks among the top 10 British Independent Schools. It has produced exceptional scholars and influential figures who have shaped the world. Consistently setting high standards, the school has continued to evolve to provide students with an education tailored for the future.

Exceptional British Education in a Purpose-Built Campus

Our purpose-built campus in Upper Bukit Timah offers the Cambridge International Curriculum from Nursery to Senior School in a dynamic environment with modern classrooms, dedicated spaces for art, sciences, music, and drama, as well as extensive outdoor facilities to support a wide range of sports and activities.

The Perse School (Singapore) has deep and enduring ties with The Perse School Cambridge, ensuring that students benefit from the same ethos of academic excellence, intellectual curiosity, and holistic development. Under the guidance of Principal Lynne Oldfield who brings over 30 years of experience from leading schools across the UK and Asia, and through our close collaboration with The Perse School Cambridge, students benefit from enriched learning opportunities, including shared resources, international exchanges, and collaborative global projects.

This dynamic environment prepares them with the skills and mindset to thrive in an ever-evolving world.

Welcome to The Perse School (Singapore)

It is a true privilege to lead a school built on such strong values and a rich academic tradition.

With over 30 years of experience in education—leading schools across the UK, China, Kazakhstan, Korea, and most recently serving as Principal of North London Collegiate School Jeju—I’ve seen firsthand the transformative power of a truly holistic education.

At the heart of my philosophy is a simple belief: every child deserves a world-class education in an environment that nurtures curiosity, compassion, and challenge. Academic excellence is essential—but so too are character, global perspective, and meaningful relationships.

What makes The Perse School (Singapore) so special is its strong sense of purpose, its close ties to The Perse School in Cambridge, and its vibrant, diverse community. I’m excited to build on our partnership with Cambridge—bringing a globally respected tradition of excellence to life here in Singapore.

As I begin this new chapter, I come not only to lead, but also to listen—to our students, staff, and families. Together, we will shape the next phase of this extraordinary school.

Ms. Lynne Oldfield
Principal
